Bisbee's Fair May Find Beauties Of Douglas Competing

Competition between Douglas and Bisbee will be exceedingly keen September 20, when the American Legion will stage its bathing beauty and aquatic sports contests in the Calumet and Arizona pool at Vista Park, Warren, according to the committee of the legion in charge of the program.

It is stated that several of Douglas' fair colleens have declared their intention of entering the "bathing beauty queen" contest in an effort to "show the Bisbee girls up."

A very attractive silver loving cup will be awarded the successful contestant in the beauty contest as first prize, and in addition, the winner of second prize will receive a handsome bathing suit.

The prizes will be placed on exhibition Monday, the loving cup and several bronze and silver medals, prizes to be awarded in the swimming contests, in the window of the Bergquist Jewellery Company, and the second prize in the bathing beauty contest, along with a similar prize—a bathing suit—for the winner of the 30-yard girls' swim.

Come Bisbee, we're betting' on you!

WILD SCENES MARK TENNIS FINALS MATCH

Tilden Still Retains Title as Champion Tennis Player
by Defeating Johnson

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—(By The Associated Press)—William T. Tilden, 11 of this city is still champion tennis player of the United States. He retained the crown and trophy won in 1920 and 1921 today by defeating William M. Johnston, of San Francisco in a terrific five-set struggle by scores of 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4.

A gallery of 14,000 spectators gathered in the stands of the Germantown Cricket Club, witnessed a match played under perfect weather conditions, such as is seldom, if ever, offered at the climax of national or international matches in this country or any other country.

Words and figures are poor tools with which to carve for posterity, a record of the contest staged today by the two greatest tennis players of their time. It transcended any similar battle in the memory of the oldest followers of the game. At the close of the one hour and forty minutes struggle, the gallery was in a state of hysteria and exhaustion almost equal to that of the contestants. Rooting for first one player and then the other, the spectators toward the close of the struggle became to call shots and dispute linesmen's decisions, until play was of necessity halted several times.

Yellow Men and Gold

The new Goldwyn picture, "Yellow Men and Gold" coming to the Lyric theatre for Friday only is one of Gouverneur Morris' most thrilling romances for the screen. It is fundamentally an adventure story, filled with hair-raising episodes and dominated by a beautiful love story.

In the manner of telling the story, the Goldwyn company has shown the artistic restraint necessary for a convincing portrayal of an imaginative tale. Among the incidents is a race at sea between two schooners, each carrying a group of treasure seekers. There is a hand to hand struggle when they reach an island in mid-ocean, with victory coming at last to the legal possessors of the secretly buried treasure. However, a mere recital of incidents cannot convey the rich flavor of adventure that runs through the story.

Pathos and love go hand in hand up to the sacrifices of her life by an adventuress, whose last act is to free the man she loves from the complications that her existence has helped to bring about. Rosemary Theby plays the role of the adventuress with marvelous effectiveness. Never in her career has she acted more sincerely.

Grand Prix Race in France

Frank Mayo in the stellar role, is a story from the pen of Clarence Budington Kelland, who has written so many virile tales of the northland and its hardy folk. It was directed by Jack Conway.

Come on Over

A new Rupert Hughes comedy, produced by Goldwyn, "Come On Over," will be screened at the theatre for two days beginning today. It is a breezy, wholesome, chucklesome story of an Irish lad, Shane O'Mealia leaving Monya, his sweetheart, to be "sent for out" when he lands a good job. Shane is unfortunate loses job after job.

The years go by and Monya is brought over by friends. She thinks that Shane is in love with Judy Grady and there is a great to-do until they are swept into each others arms at a contest of Irish dances.

Chapter Play

Alaska, "the witch of the north," and its stirring history during the gold rush days, has been sung far and wide by poet and novelists, but it remained for the Universal Film Co. to actually portray its history on the silver screen.

The chapter-play opens with the signing of the treaty between Russia and America, whereby the rich territory of the far north became a possession of the United States for a consideration of $7,200,000. The historic conference between the Russian ambassador and President Johnson, the transfer of power from the Czar's army to this country's military forces the gold rush of the early nineties, the constant battle of primitive man against the snow and ice and against other men who stopped at nothing in their thirst for gold—all are embodied in one of the most remarkable film dramas ever produced.

William Desmond has a narrow escape from death during the filming of one of the many hazardous scenes when his foot slipped and he plunged down a steep cliff and into an ice-bound river. His shoulder was located, his ankle broken and other minor injuries inflicted. Miss LaPlante, standing nearby, barely escaped a similar fate. The first chapter will be shown at the Lyric theatre on Tuesday.
